

We would like a picture of Ron - a recent picture, and more poems by Kristi - Kerry's thinking about using The Rain in Zenarchy. Congrats on selling Aunt Mabel's - though I know you'll miss her. We're renting a 1 bedroom house loves, now and getting ready for a baby - it's so absorbing! -

Sylvia Meagher lives in NY & I'm enclosing two of her letters -- one to Clay Shaw & one to Ed Epstein -- AND THEY ARE MY ONLY COPIES, so please return them, next time around. (Excuse the emphaticism, but I'm always sending things to Dave to return & he's always forgetting & I'm always getting pissed & pissed at him. As Alexander King once said, it ain't the Evil Ones you have to sweat, but the well-meaning klutzes & the one true thing in all of Weisberg's vomituous diatribes to date is that I will indeed be lucky to survive Dave's "help." But Garrison will need far more than luck to survive Weisberg's -- he'll need a miracle from the Virgin Mary herself, at least. I wouldn't be surprised if Garrison doesn't wind up prosecuting Weisberg for obstructing justice before this is all over with.)

As for the Fraud in general, I'm no longer worried about it. Garrison is not pushing ahead on my case and, as far as anyone knows, has no plans to.
One of the drawbacks of arresting someone without investigating them is that you just might pick on someone with a lot of friends among your supporters.
Garrison will be lucky to get elected dog catcher, after this is over, if his case against Clay Shaw is anything like his normal style, which his case against me was. It forever blows my mind that Good People support this police-state, reactionary rightist shithead who, before Mark Lane started manipulating him, was the Sam Yorty of New Orleans. ~~His~~ His "long-time political ally," Russell Long -- ~~whose~~ whose main source of income is OIL STOCK -- stood up on the floor of the Senate the other day and spent one full hour, plus, calling the flower people in Chicago "no-count traitors" and the "scum of humanity." This is the fellow who, along with another big oilman, Rault, got Garrison interested in investigating the assassination in the first place.

Green Lake! We went on a vacation there once. Went swimming in the lake and, when we got ~~out~~ out, my brothers and I, got all itchy drying off -- some kind of algae in the water. That was the year I started ~~planning~~ planning to create a bug circus, something I planned to do perpetually for many years thereafter. I remember how I used to go for walks alone in the forest and how impressed I was by how gracefully the lizards would leap from one branch of a bush to another -- almost like slow motion. That was the year, or one of the years, of the flying saucers, too. I invented "flying arrowheads" as my fantasy-world counterpart & spent all next year in school drawing pictures of them when we were supposed to be doing other things.

Yosemite. Legend of the Lost Arrow -- I wrote my first song about Kasuka and that chick he was in love with. That outasight people are now there is outasight. I never thought of it like that, before. I love that place, Ahwahnee. Tears would roll down my face, too.

We want to raise our child... Hey! Did you know? Cara's pregnant!
Due in Feb., either Aquarian or Pices -- Kreg Wilson Charles Thornley, if a boy, and Lark-Ellen, if a girl. I want a girl & Cara wants a boy.
Anyhow -- before I so rudely interrupted myself -- we want to raise our child among the sane, & break the news about the rest of the world gradually, & we would very much like to have the Smarts, and John and Sue, and Marlys, and the Simcos around us. So let's see if we can't all get together and live some place -- far, far from what passes for civilization. Cara is a teacher, certified and all, so she can keep the State off our backs on that score. Why don't you be thinking about where, if you dig it. Political boundaries are I think not so important when you are far enough out of the urban centers of population, but I'm really a bug on staying/getting out of metropolis.
